portfolios containing his notes and papers to be made during the trial. The case of Jerome and keepers from the Tombs surrounded Thaw after his arrest. He greeted each with a vigorous handshake and introduced them to Dr. Baker, his guardian from the asylum. The excellent foresight provided that admission to the courtroom would be by ticket only.

20 Women in Court.

A goodly number of the prominent restple's case will be presented in New York county," continued the court. "The case of Jerome and Jerome's finances will be heard in Foughkeepsie and Jerome's expenses in New York county. In this way half the expenses will have to be paid by Jerome."

The hearing was then adjourned till Monday next to give Jerome opportunity to appear personally. Justice Marchamander said that he would require Thaw to have his say in Foughkeepsie in charge of the sheriff from now on. The habeas corpus proceedings are concluded.

Unpendous Purchasing Power of the Dry Goods Union

Makes Possible Our

Power of Low Price Demonstration

THROUGH our most efficient and perfected organization of buyers, ably supplemented by our Membership in the Dry Goods Union of New York, an institution having a purchasing power annually of untold millions, we are in a position to secure superior quality merchandise at prices much less than many prominent Dry Goods Houses in this or any other city throughout the United States. A demonstration of giving better goods for the same money, or the same goods for less money, will be held this week.

The Question of Drink

Abstinence the Only Safe Rule for Any Girl

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

It is a long time since we had a talk on temperance. The night of a girl of twenty drinking a cocktail brought the question very forcibly to my mind the other day.

The girl may be in the habit of drinking. She was fresh-faced and wholesome-looking. But it was more a great mistake.

There is no doubt as easily acquired as that of taking things to drink, and no habit more easily broken. A girl who has been drinking for a long time will find it very difficult to give up the habit.

Effects Sure to Show
No young girl can drink an intoxicant without immediately showing the effect in her face and eyes. The eyes will be red and the face will be flushed.

Advice to the Lovelorn
By Beatrice Fairfax
INDEFINITE YOUNG MAN
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I find myself in a perplexing situation. I am a young woman and have made the acquaintance of a young man, who from the beginning has been very kind to me.

Not Very Attentive
DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am a young lady twenty years of age and for the past two years have been keeping company with a young man who is now twenty.

A Matter of Principle

Uncle Alexander's Experience Made Him Skeptical

By KENNETH HARRIS

I am among my recollections that once when my Uncle Alexander took me with him to town there was a gentleman with high cheek bones and a sharp-pointed nose in the gloom making a claim for a relative.

When the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad.

When the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad, when the claimant was proved to be bad.

The World Will Some Day Recognize Properly the Real Greatness of the Good Cook

The great cook is really a GREAT MAN. And he will be RECOGNIZED as great in the future. You need not smile at this statement. We recognize the greatness of eminent physicians NOW. But every barber pole reminds you that the physician was once contemptible, far below the big cook of today in public esteem.

The old-time barber was also the leach or doctor. And the red and white of the barber pole represent even now that old combination barber and doctor who bled his patients as a leach and shaved them as a barber, mixing, so tradition tells us, white lather and red blood on his barber pole as his trademark.

The cook puts the finishing touch to the products of the earth, nature's generous gifts. He improves the brain of the human race, for when the body is well fed with food easily digested vitality goes to the brain, instead of being used up in the digestion of badly cooked trash.

The good cook is the enemy of drunkenness. Bad cooking causes a craving for strong drink. Strong drink acts on the stomach like a blister on the leg of a lame horse, drawing the blood to the stomach and artificially and harmfully stimulating digestion. Next to POVERTY, bad cooking is the greatest cause of drunkenness, especially in this country.

We salute Mr. Escoffier most politely and with deep appreciation. He is one of a long line of Frenchmen worthy of admiration, men whom any poet or philosopher might be proud to meet as an equal.

Do you know, for instance, that the good cooks of France make appendicitis almost unknown in France? Dr. Ford, of Utica, talking to his neighbor at a public dinner the other night, mentioned the fact that the "Murphy Button" used in surgical operations on the intestines is considerably too large for use in France. Good cooking has reduced the diameter of the Frenchmen's alimentary tract, which means improvement. And, far more important, it has reduced the deadly appendicitis to a minimum.

Well cooked food, appetizing, stimulating to the flow of those juices that bring about digestion, means good health, freedom from internal troubles.

Honor the great cook. He presents to us in their perfection the material gifts of Providence, the fruits and vegetables and meats of the earth.

He increases our health, adds length to our lives. Without good cook Voltaire might have died twenty years ahead of his time and deprived the world of twenty years of his best work, and especially of that splendid re-entrance into Paris after the Revolution had vindicated him.

Without good cooks it would be almost hopeless to fight the excessive use of strong drink.

Civilization advances about as fast as good cooking. The French nation undoubtedly stands, on the average, ahead of any other nation in the world to-day, so far as individual liberty, prosperity, intelligence and health are concerned.

And if you happen to see Mr. Escoffier ask him to tell you how to cook scrambled eggs, and if he tells you, tell some of the restaurant owners you meet, for not one of them knows how to do it just at present. Ask him for any other secrets that he may care to impart. He contains information that this country needs.
